

BUILDER/ARCHITECT

Magazine

Gold Coast Edition

Krent Wieland Design, Inc.

Krent Wieland Design, Inc.

Landscape Architecture

Transforming the Ordinary into Uncommon Beauty with Imaginative Forms of Style

By Christine Van Kester

Lush landscaping, tropical foliage and gardens replete with perennial and annual blooms, waterfalls and stone fountains create the backdrop for some of the finest estates and communities in south Florida. This dramatic curb appeal, however, does not happen by chance. It takes a skilled team of professionals to create an image that is reminiscent of the southern charm and flavor of centuries past.

Award-Winning Designs

Specializing in high-end residential and restoration projects throughout the southern and central portions of the state, Krent Wieland Design, Inc. has been serving the architectural landscaping needs of well-known commercial and residential developers and luxury homeowners in Florida for almost 30 years. Examples of the award-winning and nationally published firm can be visited in some of the tri-county area's finest communities: "Ballen Isles" in Palm Beach Gardens; "Addison Reserve" and "Mizner Country Club" in Delray Beach; "Harbour Isles" in North Palm Beach; as well as "Sawgrass in Venice" and "Alaqua Lakes" in Orlando.

On the cover: The west gate entrance to Mirasol is presided over by this 17-foot-high fountain perched on a 12-foot beam. Cascades and arching jets of water animate custom designed mosaic tiles. Developer of Mirasol: Taylor Woodrow. Cover photo supplied by Krent Wieland Design, Inc.

Bougainvillea entwined with Mediterranean architecture frames a hand-carved fountain which provides the focal point for this St. Andrews estate in Boca Raton, Florida. General contractor: Weitz Construction. Image provided by Krent Wieland Design, Inc.

Before the first half of 2002 had ended, Krent Wieland Design's respected history within the building industry had expanded to include additional recognition in the following landscape design competitions:

- 2002 Grand Aurora Award, New Home Building and Design Excellence in the Southeast. Category: Hardscape and Landscape Design. Out of 13 southeastern states included in the challenge, Krent Wieland Design received first place in the "Best of Show" for all categories. In this Right: This estate garden in the historical mountain city of San Miguel, Mexico integrates stone garden archways, fountain and pathways within courtyard walls designed to emulate a quaint village. Image provided by Krent Wieland Design, Inc.

Below: The design for this estate home won the "Grand Aurora Award" for the best landscape and hardscape category. Exquisite paving and tile details with quiet reflecting pool, wall fountains and a lagoon pool woven with a tropical landscape all work together to create a breathtaking garden. General contractor: Frankal Homes; architect: Henry Frankley. Photo by Robert Brantley Photography 2002.

fine example of the firm's unmatched expertise in landscape design, exquisite paving and tile details form the backdrop for the quiet reflecting pool, a wall of cascading water and the serene lagoon, which are intermingled with some of Florida's finest flora and fauna to create a glorious tropical paradise.

- "Award of Honor"—American Society of Landscape Architects. Demonstrating Krent Wieland Design's consistent cutting edge creativity, the elegant rotunda entrance to this Mission-style luxury estate was framed in specimen live oak and Canary Island date palms, which were complemented by Paspalum sod strips bordering the home's motor court.

• Best in American Living Award: Silver and South Atlantic Region Winner. Category: Best One-of-a-Kind Custom Home, 6,501 square feet and over. This Jupiter estate has been built as a second home for a well-traveled family, who are fully capable of appreciating Krent Wieland's magnificent landscape designs that envelop the numerous outdoor terraces, waterscapes and gardens meandering through the grounds of this beautiful Mizner-style mansion.

Imaginative Forms of Style

The members of Krent Wieland's architectural landscape team are truly masters of design...artists who are able to blend nature's harmonious elements into expressive environments at some of the most desirable residential addresses in Florida—perhaps in the world. Significant hardscape, waterscape and landscape designs are intertwined into a signature collection of magnificent gardens. Combining imagination with ingenuity, Krent is able to develop tropical milieus that are not only aesthetically pleasing but realistic and practical as well.

Significant projects currently in progress or recently completed by Krent Wieland Design include:

• Exterior landscaping and water features throughout the common

Marotta Jr.: View from the covered terrace to the pool and garden pergola back along the same axis. This landscape design was given an "Award of Honor" by the American Society of Landscape Architects. General contractor: Lavelle Construction; architect: Randall Stoff.

Marotta Jr.: Specimen live oak and Canary Island date palms frame the view of the elegant rounda entrance. Pre-cast concrete in a diamond pattern interwoven with Paspalum sod strips border the motor court, formalizing the entry to the Spanish/Mission-style architecture. Image provided by Krent Wieland Design, Inc. General contractor: Lavelle Construction; architect: Randall Stoff.

areas of Mirasol Country Club, a magnificent 2,300-acre Palm Beach Gardens community of fine homes that are perfectly positioned to take full advantage of the environment's natural preserves and exquisite lakes;

• Hardscape and landscaping design at "Frenchman's Reserve," a spectacular Arnold Palmer Sig-

Above: The entry feature at Stone Creek Ranch imparts a design vernacular that seemingly transports one far from the ordinary. Photo by Steve Murray; www.stevemurray.com.

Right: The Stone Creek Ranch bridge symbolizes a welcoming respite from the busy day for a select few. Photo by Steve Murray; www.stevemurray.com.

nature Golf Course community in prestigious Palm Beach Gardens;

- Architectural landscape/hardscape design for the signature entryway, 80 acres of sparkling lakes, natural greenbelts and a striking triple-arched stone bridge that will span one of the subdivision's spectacular waterways at "Stone Creek Ranch" in Delray Beach—a unique community of 36 multi-million dollar waterfront homes.

A Florida registered landscape architect with over 26 years of experience, Krent Wieland is dedicated to creating cost-effective, innovative design solutions for every project while taking into account the unique requirements of the client. His exciting collection of exceptional and innovative designs is clearly outstanding in the use of imaginative forms of style.

Planning a new project? Call the design specialists at Krent Wieland Design, Inc. to schedule a personal consultation, and learn how these landscape architectural experts will help you create an environment that services human needs and values while providing social and economic benefit to the site's existing natural resources and ecological systems. The firm's 3,000-square-foot office/design studio is conveniently located between Boca Raton and West Palm Beach in the city of Lake Worth.

BVA

Above: This waterfall at Stone Creek Ranch in Delray Beach, FL, has become an identifying icon for this new luxury community. Photo by Steve Murray; www.stevemurray.com.

Left: The clock tower at Frenchman's Reserve serves as a beacon for all those who pass by providing a warm welcome as evening approaches. The clock tower and all landscape features were designed by Krent Wieland Design, Inc. Photo supplied by Krent Wieland.

Specializing in artistically unique landscapes and "hardscape" designs... pools, water features, patios/decks, gazebos and pergolas.

Landscape Architecture

101 Southeast Second Avenue
Delray Beach, Florida 33444